

Ocean Optics XXIII

Register now to attend this conference for international scientific professionals and students. Virtually every facet of ocean color remote sensing and optical oceanography will be presented, including basic research, technological development, environmental management, and policy.

October 23–28, 2016 | Victoria, BC, Canada

Registration is open!

The oral presentation schedule is available on the conference website.

Submission of abstracts for poster presentations remains open through September 9, 2016.

www.oceanopticsconference.org